

NEWBURGH COMMUNITY LAND BANK 2018 ARTIST-IN-VACANCY

Sonic Transmission Archive

Caroline Partamian
& Ethan Primason

24-hour Open Studio & Show:
12pm September 29 – 12pm September 30, 2018
@ the Carriage House
193 First Street, Newburgh, New York

Newburgh, N.Y.—Newburgh Community Land Bank Artist-In-Vacancy is pleased to present Sonic Transmission Archive, a mobile and place-based audio project by Caroline Partamian & Ethan Primason. The Sonic Transmission Archive aims to convey our collective human voice while simultaneously investigating the historic human impulse to transmit into the unknown. The AIV residency serves as a research phase for the project towards the development of a digital archive and transmission platform: a time to collect and create sounds, and to investigate, reflect, and generate approaches to transmission, community, legacy and contact. Partamian and Primason will transform and repurpose the vacant carriage house of 193 First Street in Newburgh, NY, as a site to debut the Sonic Transmission Archive with a continuous 24 hour sonic event showcasing sounds by local & regional musicians and artists, as well as collecting and broadcasting contributions to the Archive. The entire 24 hour showcase will be broadcast by WGXC throughout the Hudson Valley. Artists joining us in celebrating sound as agency include Justin Frye (PC Worship), fellow AIV artist Audra Wolowiec, Katie Down, Noah-Kardos Fein (Yvette), members of Weeping Icon, Rene Kladzyk (Ziembra), Devin Brahja Waldman with Eline Marx, Sarah Kinlaw, Adam Tinkle, Ed Bear, Marshall LaCount, Mark Treka, and many more. Visit the website soon for posting of the full schedule.

Sonic Transmission Archive* is open for contributions! For information on participating, please visit:
